

In dealing with the consequences of the ongoing problem with Fukushima, it is difficult to grasp the situation completely as there is so little information and much misinformation. This video tries to collect some of the questions in one place: